Remembering a crazy guy

HUNDREDS gathered at the Melbourne Convention Centre to celebrate the life of Crazy John founder, the late John Ilhan, who we lost so unexpectedly last month.

I can attest to John's generosity and kindness. I had called him recently to ask whether he wanted to buy some charity raffle tickets. Without hesitation, he offered to buy two tickets, at $1000 each.

And I'll never forget the determination in his voice when he told me his dream was that the Ilhan Food Allergy Foundation would one day find a cure.

He said, optimistically: "We'll beat it in five years, Lillian."

His wife Patricia and friend, Crazy John managing director Brendan Heiter, have shown great strength in recent weeks.

Sadly missed: John Ilhan and wife Patricia.
